

GULFLIGHT WAS ORDERED TO GIVE NO SIGNAL BEFORE SHE WAS HIT BY A TORPEDO

Second Officer of the U. S. Ship Says the Attack Was Made Without Warning—Ambassador Page Starts Inquiry.

LONDON May 4.—The American Embassy here today, in investigation of the torpedoing of the American steamer Gulflight. An examination of the ship as well as of the crew will be made. It is probable that the inquiry will be carried on under naval jurisdiction.

The investigation will be conducted as expeditiously as possible so that no time may be lost in transmitting the report to Washington.

How the Gulflight was torpedoed without any warning was seen for the first time when Captain Arthur arrived at Pontone from the Suez Islands with thirty-three members of the damaged ship's crew and the body of her captain, Alfred Gunter.

In an interview at Pernambuco, Officer Paul W. Powers, who is now in Chicago, said:

"When the Gulflight left Port Arthur we were followed by a warship of some description which kept out of sight but in touch by wireless and warned us not discuss our position to any one."

"At noon Saturday we were twenty-five miles west of Selly. The weather was hazy, but not thick. About two and one-half miles ahead I saw a submarine. I was on watch and notified the Captain and chief officer, who also saw the submarine. It remained on the surface for three minutes and then disappeared."

"Previous to this we had been met by two patrol boats, which accompanied us on either side. The boat on our starboard side was so badly shaken by the explosion that her crew imagined that she also had been torpedoed. We immediately lowered the boats and left our ship and were quickly taken on board the patrol boats."

"Capt. Gunter and I got in the same boat. We had floated about some hours, in the fog, when he asked me to roll him a cigarette. But a moment later he threw up his arms and fell unconscious. We removed him to a bunk, but he died Sunday morning, muttering that he wished his wife were cared for."

"We drifted about all night in the fog and did not land at Selly until 10 o'clock Sunday morning."

"I was on watch in the engine room when we were torpedoed," said Second Engineer Crist, "and so terrible was the blow that she appeared to be tumbling to pieces. She appeared to be lifted high in the air and then to descend rapidly. I told the boys to beat it as quick as they could, and then shut off steam. When I got on deck they were launching the life-boats. Everybody got in but short, the wireless operator, a Chicago man, and a seaman, who jumped overboard when the torpedo exploded, and were drowned."

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Germany's reply to Secretary of State Bryan's request for an explanation of the torpedoing of the American oil steamer Gulflight and the bombardment by an aviator of the American steamer Cushing, both in the German "war zone," was widely discussed to-day in official circles.

One rumor was that "something now" had been revealed concerning the Gulflight. Some officials believed it was not torpedoed but struck a mine.

President Wilson refrained from comment on the case while awaiting advice on all the facts and circumstances. The President said he expected a full report from Consul Skinner at Plymouth, England, as well as from Ambassador Gerard at Berlin.

When asked concerning the case of Leon C. Thresher, an American drowned when the British steamer Falaba was sunk by a German submarine, President Wilson revealed that no representations had as yet been made to Germany, and that very probably it would be treated with the other cases that had arisen, as, in his opinion, they all seemed a part of the war zone circumstances.

Consul General Skinner at London reported to the State Department that the first officer of the Gulflight had stated that submarine was sighted twenty-five minutes before the torpedo was fired. This corroborated the statement of the second officer cabled to the press from London.

MORGAN BANK PRAISED AS AGENT FOR BRITAIN IN HOUSE OF COMMONS.

LONDON, May 4.—Premier Asquith paid the banking house of Morgan & Co. a compliment in the House of Commons this afternoon by saying that the British Government "have no reason to doubt the value of the services" of this firm.

The appointment of the Morgan Company as the sole agents in the United States for British Admiralty and War Office requirements, the Premier said, was made Jan. 15.

TURKS REPULSED WITH HEAVY LOSS IN DARDANELLES

British Admiralty Declares All Hostilities of Turkish Nav-

ites Absolutely Fata-

lye. Times of London says the loss of the battleship Sultan was the greatest disaster suffered by the Turks in the Dardanelles since the beginning of the war.

"Our forces have repelled every attack of the enemy," the statement said, "and have inflicted enormous losses on him." An official statement was received to-day from the British Admiralty.

Describing the fight of to-day, May 4, the Admiralty said: "The British and French forces have repelled the attacks of the Turks, inflicting heavy losses on them. The British and French forces have repelled the attacks of the Turks, inflicting heavy losses on them."

"The British and French forces repelled the attacks of the Turks, inflicting heavy losses on them. The British and French forces have repelled the attacks of the Turks, inflicting heavy losses on them."

ATHENS, May 4.—The bombardment of the fortifications guarding the Dardanelles was resumed with increased vigor by the allied fleet to-day. The Queen Elizabeth, Warspite and other big gun ships are raking the forts from the Aegean Sea and the Gulf of Sams, while a squadron of French and British warships have penetrated the Straits and are concentrating their fire on Kilit Blair and Chanak Kalesi. Practically every unit of the fleet is engaged according to reports reaching here.

A squadron of four British battleships is pounding away at the land forts in the Gulf of Smyrna and the reports reaching here are that the response is feeble. It is believed, however, that the Turks are holding back their ammunition in anticipation of important land operations.

Allied troops landed at Ephesus, the noted Bible City, which lies thirty-five miles south-southeast of Smyrna. It is believed that they will cooperate with the warships in the capture of Smyrna which has several times erroneously been reported surrendered to the British.

The Vati of Smyrna is reported to have begun fresh purifications with the allies for the surrender of the city. On the Peninsula of Gallipoli the allied troops are pushing forward, but naturally their progress is slow. The Turkish positions are very strong and so well placed strategically that it is necessary to try to reduce them by artillery rather than by direct attack. The British losses are very great and it is understood that a number of transports have been transformed into hospital ships to carry the wounded back to Malta for treatment.

The labor leaders will also challenge the figures of the Government that there will be a raise in wages to 700,000 workers, amounting to $10,000 weekly. It will be claimed to Parliament that while the increase in wages is so, it comes to the workers merely because they are working overtime. The manufacturers and not the workers, the claim is to be made, are the ones who benefit.

CLAIMS BY GERMANS EXAGGERATED, IS THE VIEW OF RUSSIANS.

LONDON, May 4.—Associated Press)—The reported Russian pre-serve in Western Galicia took precedence to day over all other phases of the war. Striking an average between Austrian and German official accounts it is agreed that the Russians must have been pushed back a considerable distance along the front which runs north and south a distance of about sixty miles from the Carpathians, above Bartfeld, to the junction of the Danube and Tisza Rivers on the border of Russian Poland. Unofficial advices from Russian sources assert the German claims of victory are exaggerated, although it is admitted the movement was an important one. The Russian War Office has had little to say concerning this situation, further than to state that violent fighting has taken place. It is said in London that if the Russian front has been breached the war will be prolonged greatly.

Simultaneously with the new attack on the Russian front, Austria resumed operations against Montenegro after a lull over the greater part of the winter. An official Montenegrin statement says Austrian attacks all along the front were repulsed. At Berlin it is said a new Austrian army has been prepared to resume the campaign against Serbia.

ENGLAND BUYING HERE OF PRIVATE FIRMS ONLY. SAYS SIR EDWARD GREY.

LONDON, May 4.—The manner in which the British Government has purchased munitions in the United States was explained in the House of Commons this afternoon by Sir Edward Grey. He denied the reports from German sources that the United States Government had at any time supplied munitions or had assisted the allies in securing them. The Government is making and is making independently and privately firms, he said, but this is in no way a violation of international law.

"It would be a wholly inconsistent departure from strict neutrality for the United States to interfere in any way now with the purchase of munitions," said the Foreign Minister.

SUSPECT WILL BE HELD PENDING FURTHER INVESTIGATION.

The Murray home is within three blocks of where Katie Trichler, a little girl about Leonoine Cohn's age, was murdered seven years ago. So far, in detective annals, crimes of this sort seem to have been confined to approximately the same district.

Antonio Cummella, who was arrested at the Olive Tree Inn, No. 342 East Twenty-third Street, because he answered in a general way the description of a man Mary Murray says she saw dash out of the hallway, has told Inspector Gray a fairly straight story, according to that officer, but there are a number of points on which the Inspector wishes to obtain further information.

Cummella was held to-day in the Bronx Police Court in $1,000 bail for examination Thursday.
